Heavy Response In Phone Poll

There has been a surprisingly heavy response to the official poll being conducted in Andover by the telephone division of the State Department of Public Utilities, it was reported yesterday morning. The poll stated that all answers had to be returned in seven days, and it is expected that the results will be forthcoming shortly. Those who have not sent in their replies yet are urged to do so immediately.

The ballot gave Andover subscribers an opportunity to choose one of two systems: the present plan under which a charge of five cents is made for each call to Lawrence, Methuen or North Andover, or a proposed plan under which the basic rates are increased but there is unlimited service to and from the large number of phones on the Lawrence exchange. The basic increase is 50 cents on one and two-party lines, 25 cents on four-party lines, and $2.50 on business phones.

Investigators from the department have been checking up with Lawrence business firms whose rates would be increased 50 cents. This investigation, which has been under way for two weeks, is still continuing.

CIGARETTE CAUSES MATTRESS BLAZE

A cigarette caused quite a bit of trouble Sunday night at the home of James MacCord, 95 North Main street. At 9:20 Box 542 sounded, and when the fire department arrived it was found that Mr. MacCord had been reclining on a couch smoking when the mattress caught fire. A radio and a wall were also damaged by fire and smoke.

Tax Rate Probably To Be The Same

There will be little change if any in the 1941 tax rate, it was learned on good authority this week. Official announcement probably will not be made for several weeks yet.

Six Local Boys Graduate At Phillips

Six Andover boys won their diplomas from Phillips Academy at the annual Commencement exercises held last Friday. There were 172 seniors in the class. The local boys were: Donald Adelbert Boynton, Arthur Leo Coleman, Jr., Eolo Francis DeRosa, Richard Draper McFarland, George Gordon White and John Rodney White. Eolo De Rosa won a senior honor in biology.

The speaker was William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, who told the graduates that they do not receive America's blessings "by divine right; if you hope to escape the sufferings of other nations you must make democracy work. If you are worthy of your comforts, you must share them with those who are in want; if you wish to have justice done you, you must work for industry and social justice throughout our land." He urged the young men not to make a "quick and emotional decision" to enter the armed service, for "the great demand will be for highly trained men in research and in public leadership."

Dr. Fuess spoke briefly to the class. The diplomas were presented by Trustee Fred Murphy, acting for Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, who is busy these days.

Steam Roller Crashes Station

A pin which was supposed to but didn't fit into a sliding gear arrangement is believed responsible for a little diversion that the town steam roller had last Friday noon. The roller was proceeding alongside the School street side of the railroad station heading for the Essex street crossing when suddenly it got tired of the orthodox methods and decided to back up into the railroad station. Fortunately Hugh F. McGinley of Malden, Railway Express agent, moved out of the way in time. What might have happened to any person or any automobile in the way can best be illustrated by what happened to the station.

Walls a foot thick, on a heavy granite foundation surmounted by yellow brickwork, buckled in, leaving a large crack running up the building. Viewed from the side, the station tapered toward the bottom, and it didn't take too much imagination to wonder just how the roof stayed put. Railroad workers immediately began to prop it up just in case.

It is probable that the town will have to stand the damage inasmuch as the station was unable to move out of the way in time.

Water Depletion Bothers Boards

The Board of Public Works called in the town finance committee, the selectmen and the directors of the Taxpayers' Association Monday evening to ask their advice on water rates. The Board's quandary arose from the recent action by a local firm in shifting from ammonia cooling to cooling by town water, the result being the depletion of the town water supply by the amount of 400,000 gallons a day. It was estimated if two other large firms in town did the same thing, there'd be no water left for domestic consumption. As it is now, the Board has had several requests for meters for farm irrigation which they have turned down because of the drain on the system.

It was suggested that the rates be raised. No definite action was taken, however, and another meeting is to be held next week.

The Sanctuary

A Sermonette by the Rev. Elton E. Smith

"When I went into the sanctuary of God, then I understood. . . ." Psalm 73.

Can anyone but a hermit remain sane in these days? The morning newspaper tells us that peace negotiations are under way; the afternoon radio broadcast denies any such possibility. One national leader presses home the great peril to our land; another assures us that we are absolutely safe. Invasion is labelled "protection"; ex-presidents are called "the foe of democracy."

Nowhere can one find certainty, except perhaps at the corner drug store, where all the boys know just exactly what "Hitler is going to do next."

Does the Church have any significant message for today? Consider, if you will, the words of the Psalmist placed at the head of this article. He, too, was confused, bitter, a seeker with unlighted lantern. But then he entered the sanctuary, and he understood. Does that last word seem queer to you? Yet it is deeply true. Not "then I felt better," or "then I forgot my troubles"—but "then I understood."

It is a significant truth that understanding does elude the seeker, just as long as he remains in the thick of the fight. We are all too implicated in the chaos of the "here and now" to be able to gain a heartening glimpse of the essentials in the struggle, much less of the distant future. Our hearts drag us into the confused arena even before we have quite decided which of the strugglers there are friend and which are foe. In the heat of the day our minds are all too ready to be coerced into believing the dictates of the heart. But then comes a quiet moment, a calm in the universal tumult, and we must then answer the insistent questions "Why?" and "Whither?" and "How?" Then it is that we need to enter the sanctuary of God, for real understanding is the product of worship. It requires the same devotion, selflessness, purity that the adoration of God requires. The worship of God in truth, is none other than this everlasting search for the higher understanding of the mixed motives and deeds of men.

Only the sanctuary of God can reveal Him "standing in the shadow, keeping watch over His own." The Church alone among human institutions can reveal the vision of all of history moving toward one divine consummation which is none other than the Kingdom of God. Only by seeing with the eyes of God can we "make sense" out of international catastrophe, the shipwreck of human idealism, universal fratricide. May we, entering into the sanctuary, come to an understanding of the follies of men in the light of the deep things of God.

"Let us put by some hour of every day
For holy things!—

Wherein to hold rapt converse with the soul,
From sordidness and self a sanctuary,
Swept by the winnowing of unseen wings,
And touched by the White
Light ineffable!"

Elect Two Teachers For Public Schools

Two teachers were elected to the public school staff last night at a special meeting of the school board held immediately after the Ham- blin testimonial. Miss Evelyn Irene Banning, who has had eleven years' experience, was elected to the Ju- nior high faculty. She is at present teaching in Hyannis.

Miss Olive Frances Eldridge of Methuen was chosen to the North school position. She has taught in Maine and at Hanson, Mass. Miss Katherine Sweeney has been trans- ferred from the North school to the Central school's fifth grade to take the place of Miss Nola Porter whose resignation was last night accepted with regret. In the late summer she will become the bride of Ralph Sturke of the Junior High faculty.

Miss Mary Collins was trans- ferred from the Bradlee school to West Centre because of the dwindling school population in the Vale. The West Centre position was last year filled by a substitute most of the time.

Police Blotter

Mrs. C. B. Martin didn't get a very good welcome to Andover. She rented the house at 75 Salem street, and on June 12 brought two rugs valued at $90 into the house, leaving them in the cellar. Some- body else saw them and decided not to leave them in the cellar. However, whoever it was ap- parently heard of the police and landlord investigation, and a few days later he again decided to leave them in the cellar.

Mrs. Charles Penwell of 16 Arundel street also had an experi- ence with a breaker and enterer this week. On Tuesday she was at the front of the house when she heard someone upstairs. She ran up and saw a boy of 12 or 13 rummaging through some bureau drawers. She managed to grasp him, but he eluded her and dashed down the stairs and off on a bike. However, in their brief moment together he explained that he thought it was his uncle's house, and he gave the uncle's name. Police investigated and found out the boy's name from this informa- tion, also finding out that he ap- parently was in the habit of enter- ing other houses too. A suspended sentence to Lyman School will probably be brought into effect.

Another local man out on parole from Bridgewater broke his parole via the liquor route this week. Chances are he will shortly be re- turning via the Bridgewater route.

Dr. Walter Davi of Somerville was bitten by a dog June 15th in Ballardvale. The wound was treat- ed by Dr. Walter Davi.

To Hold Exam For Police Sergeant

Sergeant William Ray Hickey is in charge of the police department nights during Sergeant Leonard Saunders' vacation. When the sergeant's vacation ends, he will go on retirement and Sergeant Hickey will continue nights until a new appointment is made. The selectmen have applied to the civil service commission for an exam- ination to select a sergeant, and all the present regulars will be eligible to take the exam. When the promotion is made, a new of- ficer will be appointed from among officers Waldie, Dufton, O'Brien and Lynch.

NEAR-FIRE

Town house janitor William Brown reported to the police Tues- day night that things didn't look or sound right at the Andover Market. An investigation showed that the loud buzzing noise and the heavy pall of smoke was caused by an overheated motor.

CHILDREN'S SATURDAY MORNING SHOW
DISCONTINUED FOR THE SUMMER

WHERE TO GO WHAT TO DO

The Andover Country Club will be the scene of the gala affair, and the club will be made more attractive with the decorations of flowers which the decorating committee (Edith Hoyer, Marcelle Poisson and Thomas O'Dowd) have been arranging. The orchestra will be Joe Norman's from Lawrence, and many of you who have heard him play at various occasions will agree that his is one of the best from this vicinity.

Tickets are only $1.50 per couple, which is much too reasonable for such an affair, but the committees wanted to be sure that each and every one of you attend.

Those in charge are: Anne McCarthy, Mary Harkin, Thomas O'Dowd, Anne Scanlon, Eleanor Raidy, Warren Deyermund, Everilda Collins, Mary McNulty, Edmund Connolly, Janice Driscoll, Josephine McNulty, Thomas Brennan, Eileen Lawson, Pauline Dufresne, and James Doherty, also the three persons mentioned previously.

Tickets are now on sale from the sodality members, but they will also be on sale at the door, so there really is no reason to stay away from what should be considered as "the must attend of the month of June."

JUNE 21—West Church Sunday School Picnic

The annual picnic of the West Church will be held on Saturday, June 21, at the 4-H camp at Georgetown. This year it is to be a Church picnic and all members and friends of the church are invited to attend. Cars will leave the vestry at 9 a. m., and a community dinner will be served at noon.

In case of rain, the picnic will be held the following Saturday.

JULY 3, 4—Ballardvale Safe And Sane Celebration

If you have ever attended a Ballardvale Fourth of July celebration then you know that they really are worthy of your support. If you have not attended, then you will have a chance this year to have the most enjoyable fourth of your life, and be certain that it will be safe and sane.

Frank Haggerty is general chairman of the committee in charge of the Vale's gala Fourth of July celebration. He is being assisted by Richard O'Brien, treasurer; Ralph Greenwood, chairman of the bonfire committee; Stanley Palenski, chairman of sports; Jack Lawrie, chairman of posters; Leslie Hadley, chairman of the tag committee; Edward Nolin, chairman of the band committee and Timothy Haggerty, chairman of the Horribles Parade.

Remember, donate for a safe Fourth of July, and help the Vale make a success of its undertaking.

The next meeting of the committees will be held Friday at 8:00 p. m. in the precinct room.

Library Staff To Attend A. L. A. Sessions

The Memorial Hall Library will be represented at the sixty-third annual conference of the American Library Association at Boston, June 19 to June 25, by various members of the staff.

"Deeds, not words" is the theme of the conference which will be attended by approximately 5,000 librarians, trustees and friends of libraries from all parts of the United States, Canada, and foreign countries. During the week's conference there will be four general sessions and almost one hundred meetings of various sections, boards, groups and round tables, in addition to the regular council meetings.

Defense activities and libraries will be the subject of an all-day meeting which will take place on the day preceding the opening of the conference, at which time Miss Miriam Putnam and Miss Nancy Babcock will act as hostesses.

On Thursday, Miss Evelyn Robinson will be a hostess at the meeting of the Film Forum Institute. Miss Margaret Manning and Miss Dorothy Ruhl will attend a meeting of the Reference Librarians' section on Friday afternoon. PLAYGROUNDS TO OPEN

On July 1, the playgrounds of Shawsheen, Ballardvale and Andover will open for the summer and will remain open every Monday through Friday from 2 o'clock until dusk. The first three days will be for registration only, and the grounds will be closed for the holiday, July 4. The following week, all the heavy equipment will be put up.

Previous to the opening, the instructors will hold a meeting at 1 o'clock and appointments for the different playgrounds will be made at that time.

ANNUAL PICNIC ENJOYED

The James E. Greeley Company employees held their annual outing at Crane's Beach yesterday with the store personnel and their friends present. Swimming and sports were enjoyed, after which the gathering partook of bountiful repasts.

First Aid Classes Very Successful

During the past three months three very successful classes in First Aid have been given by Andover Chapter, American Red Cross. The classes were very well attended and the grades received by the members were the highest yet attained by Andover classes. The Andover Chapter plans to conduct a course for instructors in the Fall, and all local people who have passed the course during the year may apply for enrollment in the advanced course for instructors. It is indeed gratifying to the directors of Andover Chapter to have so many town people interested in this important work, and it is hoped that many more will join the classes to open in the Fall. Dr. Charles A. Currier is chairman of First Aid.

The following people completed the course: Mrs. Edna L. Albers, Mrs. Herbert F. Allicon, Miss Catherine H. Barrett, Mrs. Christine J. Brown, Mrs. George H. Patriotic Exercises As Junior High Closes

A large group of ninth graders who have been studying at the Andover Junior high received their certificates of promotion yesterday morning at the closing exercises held in the Memorial Auditorium. The services were very impressive, centering as they did around the theme of "America" written here in Andover 109 years ago.

Following the entrance march by the orchestra and an address of welcome by Shirley Rhodes, Miss Miriam Sweeney rendered "America" as a piano solo. Then followed the pageantry of America and all it means to us, expressed in a 1941 medium. Miss Helen Hannon was the principal speaker. As she recited each line from "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," slides would flash on the screen to picture each thought. Verbal amplification of the various thoughts came from a number of students in the form of essays or poetry.

Interspersed in the program were a violin solo, "Tribute to the Soldiers," by John Eastham; violin solo, "O Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by Bessie Dantos; accordion solo, "The American Patrol," by Shirley Rhodes; and vocal solo, "When Morning Glids the Sky," by Constance McCollum.

The chorus also sang numbers: "America, My America"; "Battle Cry of Freedom"; "To Thee, O Country."

The orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" midway through the exercises, and then accompanied Grade nine in "America the Beautiful," as the program ended.

School committee chairman Frederick C. Smith, introduced by Principal Milton C. Blanchard, presented the certificates, one of which went to his own son, Peter Smith.

Nathan Hamblin Honored By Town On Retirement

There are times when one comes to the realization that time marches on too fast. Last night that realization was driven home to several hundred Pynchard Alumni and friends as they tendered a testimonial to Nathan C. Hamblin, retiring as principal after 31 years of service.

They gathered to honor him, to show him what they thought of him. It is safe to say that he has a pretty good idea now of the esteem in which he is held, although admittedly neither gifts of money nor the choicest of words could come anywhere near conveying the feeling of the more than 500 who came and the hundreds who were unable to come. And typically Hamblinesque was the retiring principal's little address at the close of the evening: after hearing a number of speakers tell what he meant

Selectman Roy Hardy, Pynchard graduate and neighbor of Mr. Hamblin, as toastmaster did much to keep the evening from becoming as heavy as such an occasion can be. He started by questioning the committee's decision in choosing him as toastmaster, a doubt which he said was reaffirmed by Rev. Mr. Noss' remark. Roy's family consists of his mother-in-law, wife and three daughters, and Rev. Mr. Noss,

Sherman spoke of Mr. Hamblin's distinguished service to the teachers of Andover. Then he told of his predecessor, the late Mr. Sanborn, who worked with Mr. Hamblin for 25 years. On many occasions Mr. Sanborn had mentioned his deep and sincere regard and love for Mr. Hamblin. In his short term as superintendent, Mr. Hamblin has "been a great and wonderful help to me," Mr. Sherman said, and con-

And typically Hamblinesque was the retiring principal's little address at the close of the evening; after hearing a number of speeches, he said: "What he meant."

Selectman Roy Hardy, Punchard graduate and neighbor of Mr. Hamblin, as toastmaster did much to keep the evening from becoming as heavy as such an occasion can be. He started by questioning the committee's decision in choosing him as toastmaster, a doubt which he said was reaffirmed by Rev. Mr. Noss' remark. Roy's family consists of his mother-in-law, wife and three daughters, and Rev. Mr. Noss, according to Roy, asked: "Are you unable to speak or are you just out of practice?" Chairman Howell F. Shepard of the Board of Selectmen spoke for the citizens of the town which "owes a great deal to Mr. Hamblin, more than can be measured." He has guided the school children through their most critical period for 31 years, and he has also guided many who never attended the high school, Mr. Shepard stated. He thanked Mr. Hamblin and wished him well for the citizens of the town.

Trustees Present Gift

Rev. Mr. Noss, president of the Board of Trustees of Punchard, said that although a teacher may have a lot to tell in the classroom, there is a lesson that he never tries to teach but he teaches it just the same. He spoke of the power of discipline which grows with the years. Mr. Hamblin will be remembered another 50 years, he said, because of the influence of his kindness, courage and gentleness which has made Andover a pleasant, gracious and honorable place to live in.

Rev. Mr. Noss then presented Mr. Hamblin with an envelope containing a check, on behalf of the trustees. The principal, who has received a few other envelopes in the past weeks from teachers and pupils, arose to state that "this envelope game has become slightly embarrassing." He said it was difficult to know just how to accept it; "one mustn't appear too eager" to see what the amount is. Finally he decided that the best thing to do was just pass it over to Mrs. Hamblin, and pass it he did, although Mr. Hardy thought it was a bad precedent.

Chairman Frederick C. Smith of the school committee, who with Mr. Hardy graduated from Phillips Academy 31 years ago, the same year that Mr. Hamblin came, spoke for the school authorities. He spoke of "Nate" Hamblin, neighbor and good friend, and in an aside Mr. Hamblin professed a liking for the nickname. On behalf of the school committee Mr. Smith thanked him for all he had done. He "came to bat as a pinch hitter on many occasions, Shepard spoke of Mr. Hamblin's distinguished service to the teachers of Andover. Then he told of his predecessor, the late Mr. Sanborn, who worked with Mr. Hamblin for 25 years. On many occasions Mr. Sanborn had mentioned his deep and sincere regard and love for Mr. Hamblin. In his short term as superintendent, Mr. Hamblin has "been a great and wonderful help to me," Mr. Sherman said, and concluded with a wish on behalf of the teachers and himself that Mr. Hamblin have the best that life can offer.

"All Hamblinites"

The next speaker was Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster of Phillips Academy, who said that in this gathering there were no Hillites, no Tillites, no Millites, for "to-night we're all Hamblinites." His talk was replete with many little anecdotes, and he concluded with "because Nathan Hamblin loved his fellowmen, fellowwomen and children, we are here tonight to express the love and honor we hold for him."

For the alumni President Joseph B. Doherty spoke. He briefly thanked the committee and those present, and then he spoke the tribute of the alumni. Mr. Hamblin is a symbol of Punchard tradition. Many times the association went to him for advice and counsel, he said. Then he expressed a lifetime invitation to Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin to return to each alumni banquet and sit at the head table. "Nobody can inspire us like him." The joy of this occasion, he said, outweighs the sadness because Mr. Hamblin will have a well-deserved retirement and because he can come back to enjoy the alumni gatherings. "He must never retire from the Punchard High School Alumni Association," he concluded.

Mr. Hardy announced that letters had been received from Father Austin, Rev. George B. Frost, Cornelius A. Wood, and a telephone call from James E. Greeley, now in Chicago at a grocers' convention.

Mrs. Hamblin Gets Roses

The Veterans of Foreign Wars then presented a bouquet of 31 roses to Mr. Hamblin, and again he turned and presented them to Mrs. Hamblin.

The final speaker was Mr. Hamblin's successor, Gene Lovely, who has had "thirty years of very happy association with Mr. Hamblin." He is very deeply enshrined in the hearts of his faculty, he said. He wished him great happiness in his retirement.

Then another envelope was forthcoming, this one by Gene from all the townspeople, presented to show their appreciation with the highest esteem of all. Had Mr. Hamblin not resisted the desire to open it, he would have found that it contained five one hundred dollar bills.

A tumultuous ovation was given Mr. Hamblin as he rose to accept the gift and respond to the speakers. "What Andover Has Done for Me and Mine" could have been the title of his talk. Andover gave him, he said, 30 years' opportunity to teach

Do Your Bit

One thousand dollars. And only one day.

Andover can do it; Andover raised $1600 in one day to send a rolling kitchen to England. Certainly it can raise $600 less than that for the soldiers of the United States.

In Andover Saturday a large number of Junior High children will tour the town to try to collect $1000 in one day for the United Service Organization, whose primary aim is to help the soldiers, sailors, and all people employed in vital defense work to more enjoyably spend their spare time than is now possible in the crowded communities where there are large camps and naval stations. The national goal is $10,765,000, with the National committee being headed by Tom Dewey.

It's a worthwhile project, and Andover supports worthwhile projects. Those children will arrive at your back door; don't go to it empty-handed. Let us do our bit, those of us who still have the privilege of living in our own homes.

Fine Facilities; Superb Service

A few weeks ago something happened in our neighboring city of Lawrence that is of deep interest to us here in Andover, partly because Andover residents provided part of the money for it, but mostly because it affords to the people of this town the very best, most modern of hospital facilities. Those who have seen the interior of the new Lawrence General Hospital have been unanimous in their praise of it, for it lacks nothing needed for the best possible treatment and care. Those who know the Baker Memorial hospital in Boston say that the new Lawrence General would come out ahead in a comparison of the two. And for Andover it is so much more convenient for patients, for physicians and for friends of patients that there's really no comparison.

The new building, with its four stories, provides ample accommodation for the needs of Lawrence and its suburbs. Its wards are cheerful, and its private rooms border on the luxurious at prices well below what the luxury would command. The porches and solariums are a guarantee of pleasant convalescence. But somehow no hospital could serve its purpose well, regardless of how fine its building and how superb its facilities, unless the service given is based on a desire to do the most possible for the patient. And at the Lawrence General hospital they seem to bend over backward to make patients comfortable. The nurses, however hard they've worked all day, always seem eager to find more ways to help, and they do it with a smile. Your comfort and your recovery, regardless of who you are, is their primary thought.

The community is fortunate to have such fine hospital facilities providing such excellent service.

Healthy Signs

America has breathed a sigh of relief in the past couple of weeks. The United States has been a little afraid for some time. It knew its own capabilities, it knew it had great resources, it knew it had inventive genius and brilliance of industrial management. And yet national defense production didn't seem to be going along as it should. Billions had been appropriated, orders went through at commendable pace, and yet planes, ships, etc., weren't coming forth as the United States had a right to expect they would.

When President Roosevelt proclaimed an unlimited national emergency, the United States felt more hopeful, and not too long afterward there came the first concrete example of what he intended to do. Out in California there was a factory handling a fourth of our plane production, and with negotiations for a wage increase proceeding peacefully, with the management promising that all benefits labor secured would be retroactive to May first if the men kept working, a strike was called, halting production. Finally there came action: the army was sent in, and shortly afterward there happened something which confirmed the suspicions of a good many Americans. The workers repudiated their labor leaders, and charges of Communism have been flying around ever since.

This week a New Jersey Union has been staging a trial of its leaders who proposed a strike, the charges being that they are Communist agitators. It makes an American feel good to know that labor is cleaning its ranks, that the vast body of labor is American through and through, and that the Administration intends to let nothing stop defense production. Let's keep on this way until every last Red has been removed from any position in which he can sabotage our national welfare.

An Andover girl, Miss Marjorie Foster, daughter of Mrs. William P. Foster, Central street, sang in the Western Maine and also the New England Musical festivals. She is a member of the Gould Academy glee club at Bethel, Maine, which received an A rating on all points, and was placed in the First Division at both the Western Maine and the New England Festival.

in a unique public school, for it is not many schools that have an alumni association as strong as Punchard's. It gave him a faculty which "I can't tell you what it has meant to me." "I love them all very deeply." He said he would probably miss most the daily contacts with the pupils and teachers.

Andover gave him an opportunity to live in one of the most beautiful towns in the United States, he said.

When he came here, he was told that he would be in an unfortunate position because Phillips Academy overshadowed Punchedard. He said that he grins every time he thinks of this, for he counts among his best friends many of the Phillips Academy faculty members. The town has given him a horde of friends, he added.

Mr. Hamblin's concluding remark characteristically was not about himself; it was about his successor. "I know the man that's going to succeed me," he said. The faculty is loyal to Gene, he said, and then he urged everyone to "back up Gene as well as you backed up me."

Following the program Mr. Hamblin went into the auditorium where he shook hands with the more than 500 people present.

The affair was very successful; it couldn't have been otherwise for the committee worked very hard to make it so. The hall was attractively decorated with stars hanging from the ceiling, the decorations being from the senior prom. The chicken pie supper served by Luther Witham, caterer, was enjoyed by all. At the head table there was a large ice cream cake with a sketch of Mr. Hamblin on top.

Annual reports were presented by Secretary Elizabeth Buchan, Treasurer Fred Gould, and Edmond E. Hammond for the trustees of the Alumni Fund. President Doherty announced that the association had to elect a trustee to the Alumni Fund, J. Everett Collins' term expiring, and probably with no intention of Hitlerizing, he said, "It is your duty now to RE-elect a trustee." The association re-elected.

Irving J. Whitcomb reported for the nominating committee, which also included Gladys Downs and Harold Johnson.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, June 19, 1941

★★★EDITORIALS★★★

Do Your Bit

One thousand dollars. And only one day.

Andover can do it; Andover raised $1600 in one day to send a rolling kitchen to England. Certainly it can raise $600 less than that for the soldiers of the United States.

In Andover Saturday a large number of Junior High children will tour the town to try to collect $1000 in one day for the United Service Organization, whose primary aim is to help the soldiers, sailors, and all people employed in vital defense work to more enjoyably spend their spare time than is now possible in the crowded communities where there are large camps and naval stations. The national goal is $10,765,000, with the National committee being headed by Tom Dewey.

It's a worthwhile project, and Andover supports worthwhile projects. Those children will arrive at your back door; don't go to it empty-handed. Let us do our bit, those of us who still have the privilege of living in our own homes.

Fine Facilities; Superb Service

A few weeks ago something happened in our neighboring city of Lawrence that is of deep interest to us here in Andover, partly because Andover residents provided part of the money for it, but mostly because it affords to the people of this town the very best, most modern of hospital facilities. Those who have seen the interior of the new Lawrence General Hospital have been unanimous in their praise of it, for it lacks nothing needed for the best possible treatment and care. Those who know the Baker Memorial hospital in Boston say that the new Lawrence General would come out ahead in a comparison of the two. And for Andover it is so much more convenient for patients, for physicians and for friends of patients that there's really no comparison.

dation for the needs of Lawrence and its suburbs. Its wards are cheerful, and its private rooms border on the luxurious at prices well below what the luxury would command. The porches and solariums are a guarantee of pleasant convalescence. But somehow no hospital could serve its purpose well, regardless of how fine its building and how superb its facilities, unless the service given is based on a desire to do the most possible for the patient. And at the Lawrence General hospital they seem to bend over backward to make patients comfortable. The nurses, however hard they've worked all day, always seem eager to find more ways to help, and they do it with a smile. Your comfort and your recovery, regardless of who you are, is their primary thought.

The community is fortunate to have such fine hospital facilities providing such excellent service.

Healthy Signs

America has breathed a sigh of relief in the past couple of weeks. The United States has been a little afraid for some time. It knew its own capabilities, it knew it had great resources, it knew it had inventive genius and brilliance of industrial management. And yet national defense production didn't seem to be going along as it should. Billions had been appropriated, orders went through at commendable pace, and yet planes, ships, etc., weren't coming forth as the United States had a right to expect they would.

When President Roosevelt proclaimed an unlimited national emergency, the United States felt more hopeful, and not too long afterward there came the first concrete example of what he intended to do. Out in California there was a factory handling a fourth of our plane production, and with negotiations for a wage increase proceeding peacefully, with the management promising that all benefits labor secured would be retroactive to May first if the men kept working, a strike was called, halting production. Finally there came action: the army was sent in, and shortly afterward there happened something which confirmed the suspicions of a good many Americans. The workers repudiated their labor leaders, and charges of Communism have been flying around ever since.

This week a New Jersey Union has been staging a trial of its leaders who proposed a strike, the charges being that they are Communist agitators. It makes an American feel good to know that labor is cleaning its ranks, that the vast body of labor is American through and through, and that the Administration intends to let nothing stop defense production. Let's keep on this way until every last Red has been removed from any position in which he can sabotage our national welfare.

An Andover girl, Miss Marjorie Foster, daughter of Mrs. William P. Foster, Central street, sang in the Western Maine and also the New England Musical festivals. She is a member of the Gould Academy glee club at Bethel, Maine, which received an A rating on all points, and was placed in the First Division at both the Western Maine and the New England Festival.

To the Commissioners of Essex County
Gentlemen:

The undersigned inhabitants of the Town of Andover respectfully represent that the portion of the way known as the River Road in said town, from the boundary line between said town and the City of Lawrence to Laurel Lane, is unsuited to the present requirements of traffic, and that the lines thereof are in parts uncertain, so that common convenience and necessity require that the same should be altered or relocated and that specific repairs should be made thereon.

WHEREFORE, they pray that after due notice and a hearing the County Commissioners may alter or relocate the said way within the limits above named, and may discontinue any portions which by reason of their action may no longer be required, and that they may order specific repairs to be made on the said way, all as in their judgment may be required.

NEW ENGLAND
WEATHER

New England weather has a way of occasionally taking things apart. Which does blow the rest of the country occasional good in a telephone way.

The telephone industry began in New England where "the weather changes while you are discussing it." So New England Telephone people have always had to figure on getting around or through the weather. The telephone cable, for instance, was put through some tough tryouts in this territory. New England weather taught early experimenters some valuable lessons that speeded the development of this important improvement.

Telephone communication is better protected from pranks of Nature than ever before. Some 96.7% of the 5,778,248 miles of New England Telephone wire are now enclosed in cable. . . . More than three-fifths of that cable is below ground.

Such protection of your voice-ways against the New England weather is a year-round, year-after-year job of your Telephone Company.
